Dear Messrs. Pichai and Mohan:

We write to express our deep disappointment in YouTube's recent decision to reverse its election misinformation policy regarding the 2020 election cycle.<sup>1</sup> Based on your recent announcement, our understanding is that YouTube will now allow false content disputing the integrity of the 2020 Presidential election and other past United States Presidential elections to remain on its platform. While you claim that taking such action is "core to a functioning democratic society,"<sup>2</sup> we emphatically disagree. Not only is this decision extremely irresponsible, but, in fact, it threatens to weaken our democracy, and therefore we strongly urge you to reconsider this harmful policy decision.

We are firm believers in the First Amendment and respect a social media platform's desire to foster a fulsome discussion of political ideas and thoughts. However, false content that questions the legitimacy of a Presidential election has already caused real-world harms to election workers,<sup>3</sup> law enforcement,<sup>4</sup> and elected officials,<sup>5</sup> among others.<sup>6</sup> Therefore, any decision to allow users of the YouTube platform to offer a repeatedly disproven narrative about a Presidential election<sup>7</sup>—or any election—should be taken with the utmost caution and consideration. This is especially true given that the 2024 Presidential election cycle will likely feature several of the same misinformation tactics that we saw in the 2020 Presidential election.<sup>8</sup> In fact, it already has.<sup>9</sup>

As the Committee with jurisdiction over electronic communications and the internet, we have deep concerns about YouTube's decision to reverse course and once again allow false Presidential election information on its platform. Accordingly, we request detailed responses from YouTube to the following questions by no later than July 6, 2023:

1. Please provide a detailed explanation of how election misinformation surrounding the 2020 Presidential election cycle is not a violation of YouTube's policy against posting previously removed content<sup>10</sup> or general elections misinformation policies,<sup>11</sup> especially as it relates to voter suppression, given that election misinformation has led to voter suppression efforts in the United States<sup>12</sup> and has been found to erode confidence in the democratic process<sup>13</sup> and materially discourage voting.<sup>14</sup>
2. Since YouTube will no longer remove election misinformation concerning the 2020 Presidential election cycle from its platform, please provide a detailed description of how YouTube plans to fact check, label, provide context around, or reduce the spread of such content on its platform considering the multiple court decisions and studies finding there was no widespread election fraud during the 2020 Presidential election cycle.
